2:00 PM - Live On Line with DLMS

A close-up photograph of a wooden wagon wheel and a coiled rope, resting on a wooden surface in the bottom left corner of the image.

Greetings, once again friends, neighbors and valued customers.

What a difference a year makes and this one more than ever. Never in a thousand years could we have imagined the whole world on social lockdown. We sincerely hope everyone stays safe and healthy, until this all blows over, and I believe once it has, agriculture will once again find itself as a major industry in the rebuilding process, as we do produce a product that no one can survive without – food! Our hard work and perseverance are all too often taken for granted and I believe this crisis will make people realize the things that are truly the most important.

To help keep everyone safe we have decided to change our sale format from a live video sale, at the hall, to what is called a live “on line” auction where only our auctioneer (Ryan Doran), our internet provider (DLMS), and a few friends and family members (which you will be able to use to bid over the phone if you are not comfortable bidding on line) will actually be at the hall. I will have a video on our website which will hopefully walk you through the process so, on sale day, we can safely get you all a bull. Everyone is welcome to view the bulls at the farm any time prior to sale day and the bulls will be penned for easy viewing the two days prior to sale day. Videos of all the bulls will be available for viewing on our website or at Cattle Vids for a couple weeks prior to sale day. We do not push our bulls as hard as a lot of other breeders as we want our bulls in the perfect condition to go out and work for you without “melting down” on grass pasture. We target our sale day as when they will be looking their best so for those who are unable to visit the farm, or just being cautious under the circumstances, please note that the bulls will be about 100 pounds heavier on sale day than they were at video/picture time – and we’ve so often heard from previous on line bidders that the bull they bought was even better than they thought once they finally get to see him.

We are very excited about the group of bulls we have on offer this year as we are getting more and more aggressive about the quality of the genetics we are injecting into our herd. As always, maternal attributes like udder quality, feet, disposition, fertility and longevity are of utmost importance as well as calving ease, style, phenotypic correctness, and disposition of the bulls. Our performance numbers are down slightly this year, mostly due to environmental factors which rendered our feed a bit lower in quality last summer, on pasture, and this winter, but if you do get a chance to visit the farm, view the bulls, and take note of our cowherd out in the fields with their new babies, we’re certain you will be impressed with how these angus cattle can adapt to the conditions and still look great. And all this was done with no grain for the cows and a very high fiber growing ration for the bulls – just take a look in the bunks.

We understand and appreciate the importance of hospitality - to visit with old friends and new, to show you all our appreciation for your support, and just to catch up on the “bull” and maybe share a laugh or two, but this year we just can’t make that happen and we are sorry. It certainly does not lessen our appreciation one little bit – we just want to make sure everyone gets through this time safely.

We’re very excited about the direction our herd will be moving in as we go forward into the future (not so sure about the banker as bidding against that American dollar this year was crazy) and hope to continue supplying you all with the type of bulls that work. Check out our new herdsires on the back cover of the catalogue. Thank you all for your support in the past and we certainly welcome all newcomers all the time.

As for us, the families growing, 7 grand kids now and Jacqueline and Kyle with one more in the oven – and we love the time we get to spend with them. I’m still the easiest keeping animal on the whole farm (Dr. Griffin once told me if the world ever ran out of food I’d probably be the last one living – I just hope I make it through this so someday I might get to test that theory). And speaking of theories, I read a good one the other day and just to end on a lighter note in this darker time, I’d like to share it with you now. “There are 2 theories to arguin’ with a woman . . . neither one of them works.

I’d love to say we look forward to seeing you all sale day, as we always do, but that just isn’t going to happen this year. What I can say is stay safe, good luck with calving, and we do look forward to seeing you all once this all blows over.

Please check our website at www.anchorlangus.com for updates about the sale procedure as we get closer to sale day and try to meet the imposed social distancing guidelines as they are modified.

Extremely thick, stylish and consistent calving ease bull stacked with so many "great ones" in his pedigree. We purchased Thor in dam from Hamilton Farms back in 2013, we knew from an early age that we had a special calf but we never imagined the influence he would provide for the foundation of our Black Angus program. He consistently stamps his calves with uniformity and marketability. His male progeny continue to be favorites for our customers with sons topping our sale year after year and his female offspring have added tremendous maternal strength and beauty to our production line. Thor's bloodline has proven to "stand the test of time" and his legacy will live on in our program. We are extremely proud to offer our customers another outstanding set of Thor son's once again this year.

Purchased "in dam" with our last purchase of females from Hamiltons we used him here at Anchor 1 for the tremendous female traits in his pedigree. Absolutely outstanding maternal genetics with his grand dam being named Grand Champion female at Denver in 2010 and an "auntie" in 2014. Half sib sisters have sold for $26,000 and $18,000 and a half sib brother for $35,000. And if the maternal super strength is not enough, he's really put together right and is consistently siring low birth calves with satisfactory performance.

It costs some money to bring a herd bull home that checks all the boxes but this guy was definitely worth it. An SAV Pioneer 7301 son from an SAV International 2020 daughter, who Dave Longshore says is a beautiful cow, his pedigree is loaded with breed legends in the black angus breed. Strong footed, tremendous haired, very deep bodied, smooth fronted calving ease sire with a beautiful head – all traits he passes on consistently to his sons all while maintaining pretty impressive performance EPDs as well. We are extremely excited about the future of this guy here at Anchor 1 and his 9 sons in the sale, all out of 1st calf heifers, says it all.

Extra was "our pick" and the second high seller at the very successful MJT Cattle Co. bull sale in 2016. We selected him for our heifers to maintain strong calving ease traits, length of body, style and performance. He has since then met and exceeded all of our expectations as his calves are even more attractive than we could have ever imagined. He offers 1 outstanding yearling and 2 rock solid 2-year old prospects this year, all of which are raised by beautiful females. His style, consistency and performance is what we hope to receive from any newly acquired herd sire and his sons will offer you a very similar sense of satisfaction for your own programs in the years to come.

Incredibly stylish, high performance calving ease herd bull. Sired by our most highly regarded Black Angus herd sire Thor 42A and raised by a gorgeous, functionally correct Red Angus female. Thor 29D was retained back into our herd not only for his own strong qualities but also as a portal to introduce Thor's proven bloodline into our Red Angus program. The outcome is exactly what we had hoped for; He is siring red hided calves with the same style, thickness and fantastic disposition that we have admired over the years in our black program. Walking the pastures primarily with our red cows gives him a 50/50 chance of producing a Red Angus or a Black/red gene carrier but at the end of the day they are all moderate birth, very marketable cattle with the definitive Thor hair coat. Thor 29D offers an outstanding set of young herd sire prospects once again and we really do believe he will be a "game changer" for our operation in the years to come.

Special Blend was the high selling Red Angus bull in the 2017 Wilbar Cattle Co. "Tools of the Trade" bull sale. "SB" offered us fresh exciting genetics but what made us want to chase him to the end was his undeniable attraction, strong calving ease features and impressive growth credentials. He proved to be a very efficient breeder right out the gate and once his first set of calves started hitting the ground, we knew we had a special new herd bull. Special Blend has serviced our red angus replacement heifers for 3 years in a row breeding 35 heifers each year and we have not yet assisted a calf at birth sired by him. SB is breeding strong uniformity and style into his offspring. Take a good look at his sons in our offering this year as we are confident they will work well for you.
